

TRAVEL

Travel expert offers up tips for post-Cannes Lions fun

By Alexandra Steigrad

Published June 22, 2026, 7:06 a.m. ET

 Comments

Saint-Paul-de-Vence and Théoule-sur-Mer

If you need to stick closer to Cannes, Saint-Paul-de-Vence, one of the oldest medieval towns in the French Riviera, is just a 40-minute Uber ride and it's a must-see. It is known for its modern contemporary art museums and an enclave for famous artists like Pablo Picasso, Marc Chagall and American writer James Baldwin, as well as a Provençal flair.

While hotels La Colombe d'Or and Château Saint-Martin are popular among tourists, Page Six recommends dining or staying at Toile Blanche, a charming boutique hotel set below Saint-Paul-de-Vence. The 22-suite hotel, which houses two restaurants, is the brainchild of contemporary artists and brothers, Gilles, Gregory and Nicolas Leroy, who have created a unique rustic enclave that blends art, farm-to-table cooking and family-style hospitality.

Just outside of artist-enclave Saint-Paul-de-Vence is Toile Blanche, a rustic boutique hotel founded by three brothers. Courtesy of Toile Blanche

When explaining the concept of their hotel, the brothers said, “Guests will forget what you said, forget what you did, but they will never forget how you made them feel. When we create, we don’t just want to build something beautiful — we want to make something that makes people feel.”